Headhunter Expands

October 4, 2006

NAJ International is expanding its services to include managerial staff evaluation and development. The company is emphasizing its position as Poland's oldest personnel consultancy with 15 years of experience in the market.

Many Polish and foreign companies, from sectors such as banking, media, marketing, pharmaceuticals, logistics, telecommunications and construction, have used NAJ International's services over the past 15 years. The company specializes in recruitment for high- and medium-level management positions in international corporations that operate on the Polish market and those that are preparing to enter it.

"The job market is changing and forces us to constantly improve our work," said Ewa Adamczyk, general manager of NAJ International, commenting on the firm's new focus. "Our clients increasingly ask us to search for board members for their organizations. At this level, potential candidates are evaluated on the basis of their experience in many, often very different companies, as well as their managerial successes."

In the 15 years it has been on the market, NAJ International has traced and promoted the development of many outstanding figures in nine business sectors, Adamczyk said.

To illustrate the expansion of its business, the company has adopted a new logo that represents ideas important to NAJ International. The blue in the logo symbolizes open space and unlimited possibilities, while the gray stands for elegance, seriousness and endurance.

The company is determined to adhere to the values and principles that have guided NAJ International to this date, Adamczyk said. These primarily include discretion to both candidates and clients. In its operations, the firm pursues an individual approach to the client and benefits from its familiarity with the local market conditions, Adamczyk added.
